

THE MOST IMPORTANT EDUCATION PROGRAM YOU WILL ATTEND IN 2013

Dear Colleague,

I have been privileged in my career to have had the opportunity to be trained by 5 of the greatest teachers in the field of Craniofacial Pain and Dental Sleep Medicine. Without doubt, Dr. Steven Olmos is one of this elite group of five teachers. What separates his teachings from the rest is his ability to determine the true origin of a patient's craniofacial pain complaint. Added to this, his treatment protocols are highly efficacious and very efficient in treating the underlying cause of the pain.

Whilst his Mini Residency is perhaps one of the best courses in the world in introducing dentists to the science and practice behind craniofacial pain and sleep disorder management, his advanced program is without parallel.

The Advanced Program will guide the clinician through every stage involved in the process of examining, diagnosing, treating and reviewing patients who suffer from these disabling disorders. The true highlight of the program is the fact that the training is carried out on the dentist's own patients so that the clinician can have his/her hands held throughout the entire process.

I have personally completed 4 of Dr. Steven Olmos's Mini Residencies, but the Advanced Program is by far the most incredible training that I have ever undertaken in the field of craniofacial pain and dental sleep medicine.

If you are serious about this field then I am not just going to urge you, but I will go as far as to state that it is absolutely essential that you take your place in this advanced program offered by Dr. Steven Olmos.

TMJ & Sleep Therapy Research
Education ♦ Training ♦ Resources

The advanced course has brought it all together for me, clarified many things and it has simply been amazing to see the magic happen on real patients in such a short time. I would say the success and confidence it has given me with tmd patients, has changed my life. Thank you Steve and all those that made it possible. A must for anyone wanting to make a living treating tmd/sleep patients.

The Advanced Course is aimed at consolidating and honing all the theoretical elements of diagnosis (record taking, radiographic interpretation, and motor reflex testing) and management (appliance therapy, laser therapy, ancillary therapy) of patients through a 'hands on' approach. His detailed and personalised attention caters for all levels of practitioners. By seeing 'live' patients, more scenarios are encountered, discussed and resolved than just in a purely theoretical setting. In this manner, all attendees noted a dramatic improvement in their ability to diagnose problems associated with the TMJ, pain, and sleep, were able to systematically apply the records as set out by Dr Olmos and provide the appropriate treatment in an effective and efficient form. In addition, what seemed to be a difficult and protracted process at the beginning of the course became almost second nature by the end - by virtue of this well structured hands-on experience.

This course is highly recommended for anyone committed to successfully treating TMD, Cranio-Facial Pain and even 'general' dentistry in a thorough medical/dental manner.
